Barbara Phoebus is an extremely experienced speech-language pathologist who has worked in early intervention and with elementary age students. Her placements have included the Head Start Program, Baltimore City Public Schools, and Baltimore County Public Schools. Currently, she works in an elementary school in Baltimore County.

She has worked with children who have language delays, hearing impairments, speech delays, autism, and developmental delays. Barbara holds a master's degree in speech-language pathology and is a member of the American Speech Hearing Association (ASHA).

Barbara is licensed in the state of Maryland and holds a Certificate of Clinical Competence through ASHA. She is certified in PROMPT, a methodology used for students with limited verbal language or severe speech delays including apraxia. Barbara believes in a multi-modality approach to speech and language learning and the importance of the link between language and literacy.

Recently, she has been nominated for the 2009 Baltimore County Chamber of Commerce Award for Excellence in Education. Barbara lives with her husband in close proximity to her 3 daughters' families including 6 (soon to be 7) grandchildren.
