Karon Zablonksi completed her Bachelor of Science in Education Degree in Speech-Language Pathology and Audiology in 1996 at the State University of New York College at Buffalo. After moving to Maryland, she earned her Master of Science Degree in Speech-Language Pathology at Towson University in 2000. She is a member of the American Speech-Language Hearing Association (ASHA) and the Association of Baltimore City Speech-Language Pathologists (ABCSLP).

Karon spent nearly ten years working for the Baltimore City Public School System, assessing and treating children of all ages with a variety of speech and language disorders. She is a licensed speech-pathologist in the state of Maryland, and holds the Certificate of Clinical Competence from ASHA. In recent years, staying home with her young son has not only given her personal and hands-on experience in language development, but strengthened her desire to help children become successful communicators.
